The Problem

There is no at-scale solution that allows people to receive advice based on specific topics, from subject-matter experts.

Most of the times, useful advice comes from strangers who are not biased, have no connections to us and are giving us an objective viewpoint without adverse incentives against our long term gain.

Why Solve This?

A lot of knowledgeable people in the world are not sharing their thoughts and perspectives and now it's possible for anyone to unlock that information.

It can now be stored on the Internet and shared with anyone who is asking.
